

Abstract of the Disclosure

[0054] A brass wind instrument and method comprising: a single piece body further comprising a plurality of valve cylinders for receiving valves and a plurality of ports and interfaces in fluid communication with said valve cylinder, wherein said ports and interfaces are substantially perpendicular to the axis of said valve cylinder.